

Bob Hester Found Guilty, Gets Six Years

A Hempstead Circuit Court jury early last night found Robert N. (Bob) Hester, 54, guilty and fixed his sentence at six years in the Arkansas Penitentiary. The first degree murder charge was reduced to voluntary manslaughter.

It was the second trial, the first having been dismissed when the jury was unable to agree.

Hester was charged in connection with the October 21, 1962 shooting of Phillip Knighton, 41, on a rural road in the McNab area. There were no witnesses.

He testified that Knighton, who was riding a horse, pulled a knife and tried to attack him. He fired three shots into Knighton's body. Hester then gave himself up to officers. The first trial was January 21, this year with a hung jury resulting.

Other action:
R. C. Jones, Negro, charged with the murder of Charles Jefferson, entered a plea of guilty and will be sentenced by Judge Lyle Brown April 15.

Jones and Jefferson got into a fight in the McNab area and Jefferson was shot to death with a 22 cal. pistol.

Two Hot Springs men, caught with 200 gallons of moonshine liquor near Hope last month, entered pleas of guilty and were fined a total of $2,500 plus costs. Albert F. Ellis and Jim L. Clamons both paid their fines and were released.

Designation of Tax Stands

LITTLE ROCK (RP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett ruled today that a tax the city of Booneville collects for maintaining and replacing fire equipment cannot be used for any other purpose.

Booneville City Clerk F. L. Donathan asked for the opinion, saying a state auditor had told him the tax was illegal and that the funds in the special fire equipment account should be transferred to the general fund and used to pay expenses of operating the city.

Donathan did not ask specifically whether the tax was legal and Bennett did not rule on this point. Cities in Arkansas are permitted to levy a tax of up to five mills for general operating expenses.

The Booneville fire equipment tax is one mill, Donathan said, and it apparently would come within the five mill limitation if the city does not levy the entire five mills for some other purpose.

Payne is charged in the death of his ex-wife, Mrs. Gladys Payne, 38, and Robert Lee Stegal, 35, both of Blytheville. The two were shot to death March 23 at Mrs. Payne's home.

Teacher Irked by Law on Evolution

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Shades of 1925: a young high school biology teacher disagrees with Tennessee's controversial law against teaching evolution and professes willingness to go to court to see it repealed.

In 1925 the young biology teacher was John T. Scopes and his trial in the tiny hamlet of Dayton, Tenn., caught the attention of the world.

Today it's Miss Martha Powell, a student teacher in a high school biology class.

"If I thought a trial were needed to repeal the law," she said early today, "I would be willing to go to court."

The 1925 Scopes monkey trial took on a circus atmosphere and brought two of the biggest names in American public affairs to Tennessee: William Jennings Bryan, three-time Democratic presidential candidate and former secretary of state, to prosecute the case and defend the Bible; and noted criminal lawyer Clarence Darrow, to defend Scopes and prosecute the fundamentalist position.

The present controversy started, Miss Powell says, when a student asked her if a picture of a monkey in a textbook was the monkey from which man was supposed to have descended.

"I explained both the Darwin theory of evolution — that all life came from a single cell — and the idea of creation," she said. "We continued the discussion and began making arrangements for a debate on the subject."

That's when school principal Radford W. Rosebrough Jr. stepped in.

The school policy, he said, is to avoid things of a controversial nature — and besides, such discussion is still against the law in Tennessee. He said the school had no alternative but to cancel the proposed debate.

"If the students are interested enough to meet out of class I am willing to help them," Miss Powell said. "I am not in agreement, but I realize the principal had to do what the board of education told him to. I don't blame him."

However there is an indication that some botchleg evolution teaching might be going on.

"I've talked to other student teachers," Miss Powell said, "and one at another school here uses another book with several chapters teaching evolution."

"Since they asked the questions, we feel they have a right to answers," said Miss Powell, a 21-year-old trainee working for her teacher certification at Memphis State University. "The purpose should be to teach the students to think."

The statute spells out that it shall be a misdemeanor to "teach any theory that denies the story of divine creation of man as taught in the Bible and to teach instead that man descended from a lower order of animal."

Not a word has been changed since 1925 and some critics argue that the law is out of step with the times.

The most recent attempt to repeal the law occurred in the Tennessee legislature in 1961. Controversy again raged but the issue was stalled in committee and never came to a vote.

"If students don't think about controversial subjects when they are in high school they are going to be in for a big shock when they get to college," said Miss Powell.

Anti-Peronists Stage Rebellion in Argentina

By ROMAN JIMENEZ
BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The loyal Argentine air force and the rebellious fleet air arm threatened each other with dawn strikes today, raising the prospect of a jet battle in the skies.

The 50-jet air force warned of all-out action against navy bases and ships. The rebel radio claimed that the aircraft carrier Independencia, with 22 jets, was speeding toward the capital with supporting ships.

A rebel radio at Bahia Blanca denied reports in Buenos Aires that the forces rebelling against President Juan Maria Guido were in retreat. These reports had said the rebels evacuated key navy bases at Punta Indio and Rio Santiago.

Rebel marines moved out of the capital Tuesday night after holding downtown Buenos Aires most of the day. They also abandoned key points taken earlier in the day at La Plata, 35 miles south of Buenos Aires. It was believed they were heading for the fleet headquarters at Mar del Plata, 400 miles southeast of Buenos Aires, and the naval base at Bahia Blanca, 350 miles to the southwest.

The air force chief, Brig. Carlos Armanini, loyal to the Guido government, said his planes would go all out against rebellious navy strongholds.

The big question mark remained the navy's high seas fleet. Guido's government claimed the fleet commander, Rear Adm. Eladio Vazquez, had radioed a pledge of loyalty and said he would lead the fleet against the rebellious marines.

The rebel radio insisted that Vazquez and the fleet were steaming for Buenos Aires to help overthrow Guido.

The navy claimed new jet victories against government tanks near Magdalena, where a tank column was bombed and shelled Tuesday.

The revolt erupted Tuesday morning in an effort to block the Florida Case Judgments Proposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Proposals for judgment in the multi-million dollar income tax trial of Andrew and George Florida which were presented to federal Judge J. Smith Henley Tuesday, with the government seeking $8,106,077 and defense attorneys asking an assessment of $300,882.

The Justice Department contended that the Florida brothers and the corporations that are owned or controlled by them owed $4,688,906 in taxes, $2,134,110 in fraud penalties, $241,447 in interest penalties and $1,041,612 in other costs.

The attorneys for the Florida brothers said their clients and 19 corporations involved were entitled to $144,917 in tax refunds, which would be offset against the judgments.

Henley said he expected to rule on the case late this summer or in the early fall.

The Justice Department filed suit March 12 in federal district court, seeking tax payments. A 13-day trial of the case was held from March 5 through July 19, last year.

Operations of the brothers were placed under receivership when the suit was filed. The two were engaged in several businesses, including construction and sale of houses in the Memphis area, banking and insurance.

Mystery Has Shrouded Moon Shot

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN
MOSCOW (AP)—The new Soviet moon shot hurtled through space today, but mystery shrouded what it specifically is supposed to do.

The instrument-laden, 3,130-pound Lunik 4 could give the Russians a big lead over the United States in the race to land a man on the moon. The American program, stung by three spectacular failures last year, is far behind schedule, but officials in Washington said there is no need for Americans to panic.

Scientists speculated that Lunik 4 is intended either to land an unmanned observation station on the moon or orbit the moon to take detailed photographs and to gather other data.

Such preliminaries are indispensable to landing a man, and "a big range of studies must be carried out before man flies there," wrote astrophysicist Yuri Lipsey in Pravda today.

However, the Soviet government gave no hint of Lunik's mission. Close studies of statements by Soviet scientists who should know turned up few clues.

Nikolai Barabashov of the Khar'kov Observatory mentioned the need for better photographs and a robot observatory in an article he wrote for the Soviet news agency Tass.

Vladimir Siforov, a radio engineering and electronic expert, predicted that Lunik 4 "will help to introduce clarity in photos of the lunar surface and to measure more accurately the height of the lunar mountains and the depths of the craters."

Lipsky said "the physical conditions on the lunar surface must be studied as well as its soil and its temperature. The density and composition of the lunar atmosphere must be analyzed. The small details of its relief must be photographed and the radiation and seismic conditions determined."

He did not say how many of these tasks Lunik 4 will undertake.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, speculated the Russians will try to land the space vehicle on the moon intact.

After its launching Tuesday, the Russians said the rocket will reach the area of the moon in 3½ days, presumably late Friday or early Saturday. The distance is about 238,850 miles.

Heavy Clouds Appear Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Light southerly winds beneath a heavy cloud covering warmed most of Arkansas today, and some rain was reported in the northern portion.

The showers and scattered thundershowers were expected to extend over the rest of the northern portion this afternoon and end late tonight.

The clouds also were expected to roll back a little late tonight, and cooler weather was predicted for Thursday.

Highs of 76 to 86 were forecast for this afternoon with lows of 54 to 64 expected tonight.

Surface winds were generally 10 to 20 miles per hour over the state this morning, but came in gusts of between 30 and 40 miles an hour in the vicinity of the heavier thundershowers.

Overnight lows reported around the state today ranged from the low 60s in the north to the low 70s in the south. Precipitation was reported at Fayetteville and Springfield.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures during the next five days would average 5 to 7 degrees above normal with only minor day to day changes. Normal highs range from 63 north to 74 south and normal lows range from 42 north to 51 south.

Precipitation during the 5-day period was expected to total half an inch to an inch from showers about mid-week and again at the first of next week.

Hope Slated for $470,800 Federal Bldg.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Public Works Subcommittee approved Tuesday a list of 164 public buildings for construction by the General Services Administration, including four buildings in Arkansas.

The projects are small post office-federal office building combinations, which are to be built when funds are available as part of the Accelerated Public Works Program in areas of substantial unemployment.

The projects in Arkansas include post office - federal office building combinations to cost $470,800 at Hope; $153,000 at McCrory; $236,600 at Marshall and $296,700 at Mountain Home.

Senator Bill Fulbright notified the Star late yesterday that the project that been approved. The building will house both the Hope Post Office and other local federal offices, most of which are in the Hempstead Court House.

So far as can be learned, no survey has been made and no site has been selected for the new building. Some time ago a private building and lease survey was made but it failed to materialize.

Gas Cut for Some Is Indicated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A new rate schedule for users of gas air conditioning equipment has been filed with the Arkansas Public Service Commission by the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

The reduction will amount to a savings of 20 to 25 cents per cubic foot, according to the base rate, W. R. Stephens, Arkla president, said.

"The schedule calls for sale of gas for 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet after the customer has used 4,000 cubic feet at the regular rate in one month.

Stephens said the special rates will apply in all towns acquired by Arkla in its merger last year with MidSouth Gas Co. in special rate areas added to Arkla's old integrated system and in cities which have built gas systems with bond issues and leased them to Arkla for operation.

"We're taking this step to bring gas air conditioning rates in these areas in line with air-conditioning rates already in effect on the old integrated system," Stephens said.

All these areas now pay a higher base rate than areas on the old integrated system, he added.

About 50,000 customers will be eligible for the new rates, he said. They are to go into effect between June 1 and Sept. 30.

Hillary Told to Give Up Everest Try

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The head of the firm that sponsors expeditions of British adventurer Sir Edmund Hillary, vacationing here, awaited word today whether a cable to Hillary to call off his attempt to climb Mount Tawache in Nepal got through.

Bailey K. Howard, president of World Book Encyclopedia, cabled Hillary Tuesday night to abandon the expedition and go to the aid of shepherds in the Narmchebazaar area in Nepal, where an epidemic of smallpox was reported.

Hillary's expedition was for the purposes of scaling Tawache and building school houses for shepherds in the area. The message would have to reach Hillary by runner from Katmandu, Nepal.

"Abandon all climbing and school building facilities," the cable read. "Get all available serum from Calcutta and we will cover costs."

Howard said late Tuesday night at his hotel here that the Hillary expedition has twice as many doctors with it as there are in all of Nepal, four against two, to administer the drugs.

"And Hillary is no slop at it either," he added.

Benton Holding Full Time Classes

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Benton Junior High School resumed full-time classes Monday for the first time since Jan. 12, when fire destroyed all but one wing of the school building.

For 10 weeks after the fire students in the seventh and eighth grades attended on half-day classes. They did not go to study hall, music or physical education classes during that time.

Some $30,000 in repairs have been made to the wing of the building. Some 590 pupils are using it and temporary buildings for classrooms.

A new junior high school is on the drawing boards and should be constructed soon, Supt. Howard Perrin said Monday.

She was in a state of shock.

"If you saw them you can describe them!" Higby shouted at her.

She shook her head from side to side. "I was too frightened, Mr. Higby. They were youngish, is all I can say. Well dressed."

"They were terribly, terribly pretty," Frances Terrill said at my elbow. "Two little gentlemen from Prettyville."

"Take care of things here for a few minutes, Corny," Higby said. "The elevator man — the doorman — they may be able to give me a description."

"You want me to call the police?" I asked.
He looked straight at me for the first time. "Of course call the police," he said.

Frances Terrill leaned hard on my arm and I heard a little quivering sigh escape her bruised lips.

The way I read it she was relieved. If he'd call the police, things weren't as bad as they might be.

Higby barged out to the elevators, leaving me with the two women.

Left with the two women I felt my mouth get cotton dry.
"The phone's over there in the corner, Mr. Ryan," Frances Terrill said. The blonde girl had dropped down on the floor beside the couch her face buried in her arms on the ripped upholstery. I could hear old Jake Kramer's calm voice. "As long as a man's your client, Corny, you're only concerned with his interests."

I moved slowly toward the phone. "This is your apartment, Mrs. Terrill?" I asked.

"Of course." She was at a side table pouring herself a drink.

"It isn't Matt's?" I asked her.

She turned on me. "Look here, Mr. Ryan..."

"Okay, I just had to be sure. You have no idea what these two men were looking for?"

"So help me Hannah," she said, and took a long swallow of her drink.

"Have you looked to see what they may have taken?"

"There hasn't been time."

A dry sobbing noise came from the blonde girl by the couch.

"For heaven sake, Dawn!" Frances Terrill said. "You've still got all your teeth."

Workshops End Region Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The southwest regional conference of the United Community Funds and Councils of America ends here today with a series of workshops for professional members.

Highlight of the four-day conference was a talk Tuesday night by John S. Hayes of Washington, president of the UCFCA, who called for more inter-community cooperation to increase "the potential for adding to our already great contribution to community life."

Hayes said United fund organizations raised $520 million last year, an increase of $20 million over the previous year, but warned that still more jobs remain to be done.

He said he recognized a need to "keep our programs continually sensitive to current community problems and needs" and said there is danger in supporting only local services through United giving.

He warned against what he termed a tendency to let "the institution or program become an end in itself, rather than the means of accomplishing a specific social goal."

"One of the major challenges is to preserve the great strengths of our local autonomy and still deal co-operatively and forcefully with the many non-local problems facing our movement."

He called for a continued effort to "change the attitude of the two or three major disease agencies toward united fund raising."

Roy M. Schwarz, executive vice president of Knox-Reeves Fitzgerald Co., a New Orleans public relations firm, told the group earlier that there is a tendency toward area or regional fund raising and planning that goes across county and state lines.

Schwarz said charity donors surveyed in one community revealed they preferred one big drive to several small ones. They "objected to the number of drives and gave them relatively little support," he said.

Delegates also heard Dr. John B. Youmans, president of United Health Foundations, Inc., say laymen are becoming more interested in health research and education. But, he said, they are not interested in health education handed out merely as the basis for fund drives.

Research programs of various groups are coordinated by UHF, which also helps foundations allocate funds and tells them how their money is spent.

William Lindholm, who headed a 67-agency United Fund campaign in Houston that netted some $6 million, suggested that fund drive boards have union representatives.

William E. Walsh of New York, a member of the executive committee and board of United Service Organizations, said the some 200 USO facilities around the world need public support more than ever, since many servicemen are so widely scattered over the globe, where customs, languages and habits are different than those they have known.

Explorer 17 Off to a Perfect Trip

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Explorer 17 satellite zipped around the globe today and within two days its sensitive instruments were expected to collect more information about the earth's atmosphere than all the knowledge gained through the centuries.

The 410-pound ball of instruments vaulted skyward Tuesday night atop a three-stage Delta rocket and settled into an egg-shaped orbit ranging from 150 to 570 miles high. The launching success was the 16th straight for the reliable Delta.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported good quality signals were being received from the flying laboratory as it circled the world every 96 minutes.

A number of ground stations were equipped to monitor the satellite. Officials said the vehicle would be commanded to send five-minute bursts of information at carefully selected times during the anticipated 60-to 90-day useful lifetime. They planned to activate the sphere 10 to 20 times a day to obtain maximum knowledge of the atmosphere under varying conditions and at different altitudes.

Eight measuring instruments encased in the satellite's stainless steel shell were to record the amount of helium, oxygen and nitrogen gases, neutral particles and electron and its temperatures and densities. Comparison of the data would help scientists construct a fairly complete chart of the density, composition, temperatures and pressures of the atmosphere at a time when solar activity has a minimum influence.

Nelson Spencer, project manager, said the space agency hopes to launch similar satellites later under different atmospheric conditions for comparison with what is learned by Explorer 17.

Officials reported that scientists for centuries puzzled over the makeup of the atmosphere and only in recent years—when rockets allowed them to make direct high-altitude measurements—have they obtained some concrete answers.

Cause of Air Crash Sought

MORRILTON Ark. (AP)—Federal Aviation Agency officials were still sifting through the wreckage of a light plane 18 miles southwest of here Sunday to determine what caused the crash that killed 35-year-old Joe Meadors of Fort Smith.

Meadors was killed Friday night when his plane rammed a tree ripping a wing loose and crashed on Mount Petit Jean.

The wreckage was found early Saturday by Henry Westphal who owns a farm on the north side of the mountain.

Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said the crash occurred about a mile from Winthrop Rockefeller's private landing strip atop the mountain.

Volcano Spews in Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Mt. Magick in Katmai National Monument spewed a towering mushroom-shaped cloud of smoke and dust thousands of feet aloft Monday.

The Air Force said the cloud reached 46,000 feet.

The mountain, about 7,000 feet high, is adjacent to Mt. Katmai on the Alaska Peninsula, about 300 miles southwest of here.

No one is in the volcanic area this time of year. Fishing camps are set up there during the summer.

Ordinances to Affect Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two ordinances affecting the $2.5 million DowSmith, Inc., chemical plant were passed by the Little Rock City Manager Board at a meeting Monday night.

One provides for issuance of bonds at a negotiated rate of 4 per cent interest.

The other provides that DowSmith will pay rent fees over a 20-year period to retire industrial bonds passed in February under Act 9 of 1960. It also provides for lease renewal of 21 years at rental of about $21,000 annually.

Goes Fishing, Rescues Two

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Cotton Cordell, 34, who owns a bait shop on Lake Ouachita, went fishing Monday and rescued two men.

Dorsey Selvidge, 50, and Wilbur Tolson, 54, clerks in night clubs here, were thrown from their 14-foot boat when it capsized in choppy waters.

They both could swim, they said, but they were wearing heavy clothes and were over a mile from shore. Winds up to 18 miles an hour whipped waves over them.

Both men said they could not have held on another five minutes.

Tolson said the boat landed over him and he stayed under it, breathing air between the water and the boat bottom, until it began to sink. Selvidge said he used a gas can to stay afloat.

A beacon is on at the airport at night Hawkins said and Meadors apparently was trying to get there. The sheriff said there was very little fuel in the plane.

Meadors a home building contractor had filed a flight plan from Fort Smith to Hot Springs.

Anti-Peronists

elections June 23 for president and Congress. The Guido government planned to let the Peronists take part, and the navy feared they would win, since about a third of Argentina's voters usually vote Peronist.

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUEENOS AIRES (AP)—An aged general who tried to oust dictator Juan Peron 12 years ago and a fiery younger general who led a brief revolt last year proclaimed another rebellion today to set up a military dictatorship.

Retired Gen. Benjamin Menendez, 75, and Gen. Federico Toranzo Montero, in a broadcast on Radio Argentina, called on the military and the civilian population to overthrow the year-old regime of President Jose Maria Guido.

The rebel broadcast said the revolution would wipe out plans for presidential and congressional elections June 23 in which Guido's government planned to let Peronist forces enter candidates. The election plans have set off a prolonged military crisis, with the navy seeking to keep the Peronists out of the election and the army and air force commands backing Guido.

Rumors of an impending military revolt have been current for days, and the rebel broadcast early this morning heightened tension. The people of Buenos Aires went to work as usual. There were no immediate unusual military movements in the streets.

Several hours after the broadcast there had been no response from Guido.

Menendez was proclaimed as leader of the revolt and Toranzo Montero as commander in chief of the rebel forces.

The rebels apparently had seized some vital communication links including the central telephone exchange, which has a master switchboard controlling the government radio network.

Toranzo Montero led a dissident military faction in northern Argentina last August. He was ousted a month later.

Menendez has been plotting against Argentine governments off and on for 20 years. Placed on the retirement list by Peron, he led a brief, bloody but unsuccessful revolt in 1951. He spent much time in prison before the 1955 revolution ousted Peron and made him a hero.

Menendez is rabidly opposed to both communism and Peronism. The Guido government imprisoned him last October, accusing him of plotting a new revolt.

Guido, struggling to achieve the elections and give Argentina a legal, elected government again, had sounded the alert before dawn as rumors spread that a revolt was in the making. The army, navy and air force garrisons in the Buenos Aires area went on a battle alert.

The military commands had met in Buenos Aires Monday night but failed to agree on the role the Peronists should be permitted in the election.

N.Y. State Budget $2.8 Billions

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has the approval of the New York Legislature for a record, $2.82-billion state budget. It came after a long fight in which he suffered a setback but preserved a key element in what apparently is his bid for the Republican nomination for president next year.

The fiscal program as approved requires $35.4 million in additional state levies but it will be raised under the designation of "fees," allowing Rockefeller to continue his policy of reporting to Republican audiences throughout the nation he has held the line on taxes.

The Rockefeller budget for the fiscal year beginning next Monday was approved Wednesday by the Republican-controlled legislature.

The spending will be more than $200 million over current levels. A substantial part of the added money will be obtained by moving payment dates of state income taxes withheld by employers to bring more collections into the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The Rockefeller fiscal plan was approved eight weeks after the Republican governor submitted his original budget, calling for $2.89 billion in spending. He recommended increases of $48 million a year in motor vehicle registration fees and $57 million in liquor license charges to help meet added costs.

The governor originally had said that economic growth in the state would provide additional revenues to meet sharply rising expenses and there would be no need for raising taxes.

He since has said he was misled in his fiscal planning by what turned out to be overoptimistic economic forecasts by the administration of Democratic President Kennedy.

But rank-and-file Republicans in the legislature refused to accept the Rockefeller proposals. A wave

DOROTHY DIX

DAD FALLS FOR SON'S GIRL

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: What can I do about a teen-age girl who is breaking up our home? She used to be my steady, which makes it worse. Because of her, Father has changed from a swell Dad to a monster.

The girl in the case and I are both high school seniors and see one another everyday. She's just a year older than I and only making a play for Dad because he's somebody in our town; heads a local business, is on civic committees and looks the VIP, especially when driving his snappy foreign car.

Mom's the old-fashioned wife; goes to PTA meetings, attends church regularly and belongs to a sewing club but otherwise she is always home; canning, putting up preserves, gardening and fixing wonderful things for us to eat. She's petite, slim and far prettier than that thing Dad has fallen for. In her book, we've got to obey him even though we no longer feel like it. She keeps saying, "Never judge your father; always respect him."

Maybe she doesn't know the full story, or maybe she puts up a front because of us kids. Whatever the reason, she treats Dad the same as she has all their married years.

Arkansas Post Canal

DEWITT, Ark. (AP)—Army Engineers opened an office here Monday to supervise construction of the Arkansas Post Canal and four downstream locks in the Arkansas River. Engineers said the office will be moved later to a location near the site of Lock No. 2 on the canal.

of protest arose across the state, particularly against the vehicle fee plan.

The ensuing rebellion stalled almost all other major issues in the legislative session while a compromise was worked out.

In the ultimate solution, the legislators killed the plans for the vehicle registration increases. They then cut the budget by $75 million.

I want to join the Air Force when I graduate but hate to leave Mom and the younger kids at the mercy of Dad. I'm scared he'll ask for a divorce, having secretly dated this girl for a year and a half. Should I talk to him and Mom? — Trying to Keep Us Together

Dear Trying: Your mother is very wise. Though keeping her thoughts to herself, she realizes that any interference from you children or her would only send your father into that girl's arms.

Chances are that this is just a dark chapter in his life. From your description, he's the type that cares what people say. One blast from the wind of public opinion will scatter the sand.

Have patience, understanding and hope for a change in the wind. Be careful to show neither resentment nor recognition of what he's doing. No matter what he does or says, treat him as you did in the past. I repeat: Your mother is right!

Dear Helen: Many years ago I clipped the following short prayer from O. O. McIntyre's column. He commented on its beauty, simplicity and the fact that he overheard it being quoted by an out-of-towner in a famous New York restaurant. May I share it with "Grandma" and all your other readers who seek a fitting grace to say at table? —W. C. H., Hollywood, Calif.

"Oh, Lord, we thank Thee for this food and the blessings of life and happiness. If we have deserved this meal, bless it and keep us until the morrow."

Dear W.: I've passed your letter and the prayer on to Odd's widow, Maybelle McIntyre. She and her husband were friends of mine. They lived for each other and life without him could have been a tragic retreat for her. But instead of giving up, she has gone on to make the most of each day. She travels, reads the latest books, takes in all the new shows and is a gay, sweet, contemporary person in thought and action, with a host of friends.

Dear Helen: My problem is a moping brother-in-law who has been with us ever since his wife died. All he talks of is her until I'm about to go crazy. My husband says we've got to help him get back on the track. I do all I can, even take care of his two little boys, but am fed up. Because of this crepe-hanger, a pall of gloom hangs over our once happy home. When I complain to my husband he says, "We gotta stick it out." Am I wrong in nagging my husband to move away from this, his home town? —Nagging Wife

Dear Nagging: You'll get nowhere by nagging. Granted your brother-in-law is a depressing influence. His prolonged stay should be with the consent of both wife and husband, but after all, here's a man in trouble, so have a heart.

Help him to take his thoughts of the past by inviting friends to the house and keeping the home life as cheerful and normal as possible. When he starts talking about his wife, change the subject. Tell him that if he really loved her he will go through the motions of being gay and happy for the children's sake as well as his own. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Glum to Glow." It may help him.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

O'Toole Going Great for the Redlegs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim O'Toole is no magician, but with a little assist from a nail clipper, the cocky Cincinnati left-hander has been pulling go-ahead hits out of a hat.

O'Toole stretched his string of scoreless innings to 22 Tuesday, holding the Chicago White Sox to two singles in an eight-inning prep for his opening day pitching assignment as the Reds posted a 7-0 victory in an exhibition game at Tampa.

And O'Toole, who publicly stated he was out to get next Monday's opening day assignment and got it, gives much of the credit to the little nail clipper that has been constantly in his hip pocket since the spring training grind began.

The 6-year-old southpaw says an ingrown nail hampered his effectiveness last spring and resulted in a slow start the field him to a 16-13 record after he compiled a 19-9 mark in 1961. O'Toole vowed to keep the nail clipped, and has been doing the same to the batters.

While O'Toole continued to shine, somewhat alleviating the problem caused by Bob Purkey's inability to pitch because of an ailing right shoulder, outfielder Vada Pinson again powered the ball in his bid to get ready for opening day.

Pinson underwent an emergency appendectomy Feb. 19, began working out March 22 and returned to action Saturday. Tuesday he smashed a two-run triple in support of O'Toole. Pinson had collected two doubles Monday and now is 5-for-16 with five runs batted in.

The Reds belted 14 hits against Joel Horlen, Mike Joyce and Early Wynn, who was notified by the White Sox after the game that he could not be carried on the roster. Wynn, seeking a chance to get his 300th victory, had been working out without a contract.

In other Florida games, Kansas City shut out Detroit 4-0 at Bradenton, the New York Yankees belted Philadelphia 6-2 at Clearwater, Milwaukee defeated Minnesota 5-1 at Orlando, Baltimore walloped Washington 9-2 at Pompano Beach and the New York Mets edged St. Louis 7-6 at St. Petersburg.

Elsewhere, San Francisco knocked off Cleveland 6-3 at Rockersfield, Houston thumped the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-0.

NEW YORK — Ricky Ortiz, 124, Puerto Rico outpointed

Angeles Angels 9-5 at San Jose. Boston edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1 at San Bernardino and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the University of New Mexico 4-0.

Ted Bowsfield and Ed Rakow combined for a four-hitter that got the job done against the Tigers while Haywood Sullivan led the A's attack with a double, two singles and three runs batted in. Jack Reed hit a grand-slam homer and Joe Pepitone connected for his ninth homer of the spring as the Yankees overpowered the Phillies.

Warren Spahn held the Twins to six hits in a nine-inning performance after the Braves put it out of reach in the first inning on Lee Maye's homer and a three-run double by Joe Torre. Luis Aparicio hit a grand slam and Dick Brown a solo shot as the Orioles bopped the Senators.

Pinch hitter Ron Hunt's single drove in the clincher as the Mets rallied for five runs in the eighth to whip the Cards. Two-run homers by Willie Mays and Felipe Alou provided the Giants with enough punch to down the Indians. Mays' seventh-inning homer broke a scoreless tie.

The Colts pounced on Bob Turley for five run sin two innings and used a two-run homer by second baseman Ernie Fazio for the decisive runs against the Angels. Ike Delock, Arnold Earley and Dick Radatz combined for a five-hitter that gave the Red Sox their edge over the Cubs.

Williams Seems Same Old Ted

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — If Ted Williams has changed, it isn't discernable to the naked eye or sensitive ear.

Outspoken, forthright, explosive, intense, inquisitive, nervous and controversial, the big guy is as interesting as ever as he discusses baseball and baseball players, asking as many questions as he answers.

Sitting down, standing up, smiling, frowning, swearing, making sweet talk, gesturing, moving about but constantly talking the great slugger relived his glory days with the Boston Red Sox.

"I have no regrets," he began. "I don't think I'd do a single thing differently if I were starting out again—except maybe concentrate a bit more on fielding. And I certainly wouldn't feel any different about most of my writers."

Except for a slight paunchiness around the middle and some lines on his ruggedly handsome face, Williams at 44 looks about the same as he did when he retired as an active player at the end of the 1960 season.

"You writers haven't changed a bit," he shouted. "Only the other day, a guy asked me to discuss present day hitters. I told him there wasn't a hitter in the big leagues who couldn't improve and that went for guys like Mickey Vautier, Willie Mays or anybody. The guy made it appear that I was criticizing Mantle and Mays. I never intended that."

"I wrote to both Mantle and Mays telling them exactly what I said. I regard Mantle and Mays as among the greatest hitters I've ever seen. Those guys are super stars."

Now a special batting instructor to Red Sox players, Williams admitted he misses the thrills of his 20 turbulent years with the Red Sox.

"I think I can still hit," he declared, "but if I tried to run I'd probably have a heart attack. I quit when I had to after playing as long as I could."

Says Coach Did Divulge Information

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook has concluded after a state investigation that Hallie Butts, who for 22 years coached football at the University of Georgia, divulged vital team information to Coach Paul Bryant of the University of Alabama prior to last fall's game between the two schools.

Cook's findings, made public Tuesday by Gov. Carl E. Sanders, stirred sharp attacks from attorneys for Butts and Bryant. The lawyers said Cook's conclusions were unwarranted, inaccurate and in some instances untruthful.

As the Georgia report was released, NCAA President Robert F. Say said a preliminary inquiry indicated possible violations of the rules of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Investigations also are under way by an Alabama legislative committee, a U.S. Senate group and the Southeastern Conference.

In his lengthy report, Cook concluded the information given by Butts "was unbecomingly improper, and the furnishing of such information might well have vitally affected the outcome of the game in points and margin of victory."

Alabama won 35-0 in the Sept. 22 opener for both teams. Cook said he found no evidence that "any consideration passed to Butts either directly or indirectly because of the transmittal of football information concerning the game."

The state investigation was ordered more than two weeks ago by Sanders after the Saturday Evening Post said Butts and Bryant rigged the game. Both men denied the accusations. Butts sued the Post for $10 million in a libel action.

Sanders said the report would be filed in the minutes of the executive department and a copy sent to Commissioner Bernie Moore of the Southeastern Conference.

The governor said there would be no further state action since no violation of any criminal statute was indicated and Butts is no longer associated with the university. Butts resigned as athletic director in February.

Sanders declined comment on Cook's request to continue a probe into the question of gambling. Cook said he concluded that

Staff for All Star Grid Game Set

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The staff of the West All-Star football game has been completed by Dick Hays of Ashdown, head coach of the team.

Hays named Huie Lindsey, Fairview, Camden; Swede Lee of Texarkana, John Stallings of Lonoke and Jay Donathan of Fayetteville as his assistants.

The All-Star activities are scheduled August 3-10.

Donathan graduated from Booneville high school, where he played football, basketball, baseball and tennis and was named All-State in football.

He was a tri-captain of the University of Arkansas football team and made the all-Southwest Conference team.

Lindsey, a graduate of Camden high school, first attended the University of Arkansas, but transferred to Arkansas A&M to play football and guard. He has been at Camden for three years.

Lee went to Texarkana after a year as defensive coach at Amarillo, Texas, another year at Comanche, Tex., and two years as defensive coach at Texas high school, Texarkana. He played collegiate ball for the University of Texas after graduating from high school at Texarkana, Tex.

Stallings, a native of Elaine, Ark., played halfback for Bethel College in McKenzie, Tenn., and Arkansas State Teachers College in Conway.

He began his coaching career in 1957 at Lonoke and became head coach in 1960. His record as senior coach is 22-5-2.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ray Timm of Little Rock and John Starr of Fayetteville were members of the U.S. team defeated Tuesday in the eighth U.S.-Mexico International Pentathlon meet.

Timm finished with 3,839 points and Starr with 3,633. They were not among the top four Americans who will represent the nation in the Pan American games in Brazil.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas defeated the University of Arkansas 9-1 in baseball Tuesday, allowing the Razorbacks only four hits.

Pitcher Carl Nelson fanned 18 Arkansas men and despite wind gusts of 30-40 m.p.h., struck out the Porkers in three innings.

Arkansas' lone run came in the ninth inning after Nelson gave up his only walk. Kansas had only one earned run.

Schoolboy Runs 9.5 Hundred

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Paragould won a quadrangular high school track meet here Tuesday, but if the Senath, Mo. team had been composed completely of Tony Cannon's, things might have been different.

Cannon ran the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds, just 3 seconds slower than the world record for the event. He also took the 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard dash, high jump and broad jump.

Officials said Cannon and Tom Dixon of Piggott, who completed the 100-yard dash in 9.8, were aided by a strong wind at their backs.

Cannon holds the Class M low hurdle and 100-yard dash records in Missouri. He scored 22 of his team's 26 points last year in leading his team to the Class M state track title.

Paragould garnered 52 points to win the meet, Senath had 43, Walnut Ridge 34 and Piggott 30.

Duke Snider to Get Try With Mets

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Duke Snider, the king of Flatbush, is headed back to the city that gave him the royal treatment—both cheers and boos—joining seven other former Dodger teammates on the New York Mets.

His waist a little wider and his hair a little whiter, the 36-year-old slugger who spent 11 years in a Brooklyn uniform and 16 years as a Dodger, officially was sold to the Mets Monday night for a price in the $30,000-40,000 neighborhood.

The left-handed swinging outfielder has been the subject of a cloak-and-dagger transaction that has been rumored for weeks. The deal finally was confirmed by Mets President George Weiss while Snider was enroute to the West Coast.

In Albuquerque, Snider stepped off a plane, denied reports he had asked to be traded so he could play regularly, but noted that "it'll be interesting playing for Casey Stengel (Mets manager)." Snider said he was sad, but had expected "to feel a lot worse."

Snider, whose lifetime National League achievements include a .300 batting average, 1,995 hits, 1,271 runs batted in and 389 homers, plans to spend a few days with his family in Fallbrook, Calif., before joining the Mets. He said his wife and four children would probably come to New York in May.

An outspoken critic of baseball's boo-birds, Snider was a hero to the Ebbets Field crowds that jammed into the now dismantled park to watch the Dodger stars of the 1950s—Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, PeeWee Reese, Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges, the later now also with the Mets.

To the cheers, Snider would doff his cap. To the boos, Snider would respond with a verbal attack. The fans always came back to applaud.

SMU Golfers Beat Porkers

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist University defeated the University of Arkansas 3½-2½ Tuesday as it opened its Southwest Conference golf season.

Rod Bliss of SMU defeated Butch Rushing 6-5 in the singles. R. H. Sikes, Arkansas, downed Tommy Culp, 6-4; Richard McCulley, Arkansas, beat Larry Newell, 7-6; and Bobby Parks, SMU, downed Kenny Oliver, 2-1.

Porks Start Training Thursday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Football Coach Frank Broyles says his University of Arkansas Razorbacks will begin their toughest and possibly the most competitive spring practice in years when they hit the field here Thursday.

Broyles said his 85 Porker hopefuls would face "plenty of running and tough scrimmages."

"It's the only sure way we can tell how much progress we're making and which player is giving us the greatest effort," he said.

Broyles will be looking for dependable two-way football players due to the new college substitution rules.

Broyles has always trained his players on both offense and defense, but his three-team system last year provided mostly for one-way specialists operating on offensive or defensive units.

The recent rules change announced by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Rules Committee put tighter restrictions on substitutions and made it necessary for more players to be ready to go on either offense or defense at any time.

The three-unit system will return the greatest number of lettermen Broyles has had in six years—28. As usual, seniors will be excused from the spring drills.

Practice will continue through Saturday, recess from the University's spring holiday the following week and will resume April 22.

Practice ends May 9 with a scrimmage at Razorback Stadium. A spring game will be played May 4 at War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock.

The annual coaching clinic will be held April 26-27.

State Loses to Washington U.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State gave up a walk and committed two errors in the top of the 10th inning here Tuesday to drop a baseball game to Washington University of St. Louis 4-3.

State Pitcher Bob Huffstutler fanned the Bears leadoff man, Bob Benben, to open the 10th, but Fred Author drew a walk. Al Huenfeld hit a ground ball, which Arkansas State's shortstop and centerfielder each muffed. Author scored as the ball rolled to the flag pole in center field.

Huffstutler struck out 12 Washington batters and walked four. Tom Mendelson, winning pitcher, and Ron Zetser, starting hurler, fanned a total of five men.

and Sikes 3-2 and McCulley and Oliver split with Newell and Parks in the foursome.

Palmer Also Favored at Augusta

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the "people's choice," also is the favorite of the exclusive set the former Masters golf champions—to win the 27th annual classic opening Thursday over the breath-takingly beautiful Augusta National Course.

A poll of 14 former winners of the championship gave the muscular Pennsylvanian 10 winning votes. One of the four he didn't receive was cast by Palmer himself. His selection was Jack Nicklaus, his conqueror in a National Open playoff last year.

That, surprisingly, was the only first-place vote big Jack garnered. The others went to Tony Lema, who came into his own last fall and currently rates No. 4 on the PGA official money list for this year with almost $15,000 in winnings. Gene Littler, a former U.S. Open and amateur king and Don January, PGA playoff loser to Jerry Barber two summers ago.

Another eye-opener of the poll of past champions was the fact that Gary Player, the 1961 champion, did not receive a single first-place vote. The jaunty little South African wasn't overlooked completely. He won six votes for second place and two for third.

Nicklaus picked up five seconds and four thirds to complete the "big three's" domination of the balloting.

Traveler Hurler Picks Right Up

DADE CITY, Fla. (AP)—Ritchie Allen, picking up a baseball bat for the first time for the Arkansas Travelers, picked up this season, "right where he left off last year," slamming a 2-1 pitch over the left field fence.

Shortstop Lee Elia got a 340-foot home run in the seventh inning and first baseman Cal Emery hit another into the bleachers in center field in the eighth.

But these were the only three hits collected by the Arkansas team as they went down to the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast league 10-3.

San Diego got 16 hits off the Travelers, but no homers.

The Travelers play a double header today with their camp day and his fourth in five trips to the plate. He had gone 0-11 before that.

General Manager Ray Winder said Tuesday, "We've got a lot of young pitchers to look at in the next few days, but I believe there are enough of them around to do us some good."
